Michael John Trotta’s For a Breath of Ecstasy, features poems from Sara Teasdale’s anthology, Love Songs (1917). Commissioned in 2017 in honor of Teasdale’s centennial of her winning the first Pulitzer Prize in poetry in 1918, this collection illustrates Teasdale’s journey through the struggles of love and life and her ability to find beauty and comfort enroute. One can imagine images of nature and love throughout the movements in the lyrics of Teasdale’s poems and the string quartet/oboe accompaniment that emulates a sense of longing in this seven-movement set.

For a Breath of Ecstasy

Poetry by Sara Teasdale (1884–1933)

1. Wealth Enough For Me

   I have no riches but thoughts,
   Yet these are wealth enough for me;
   My thoughts of you are golden coins
   Stamped in the mint of memory;

   And I must spend them all in song,
   For thoughts, as well as gold, must be
   Let on the hither side of death
   To gain their immortality.

2. Peace Flows into Me

   Peace flows in to me
   As the tide to the pool by the shore;
   It is mine forevermore,
   It will not ebb like the sea.

   I am the pool of blue
   That worships the vivid sky;
   My hopes were heaven-high,
   They are all fulfilled in you.

   I am the pool of gold
   When sunset burns and dies—
   You are my deepening skies;
   Give me your stars to hold.

3. Who Gave My Soul to Me

   I gave my first love laughter,
   I gave my second tears,
   I gave my third love silence
   Thru all the years.

   My first love gave me singing,
   My second eyes to see,
   But oh, it was my third love
   Who gave my soul to me.
4. For You I Am Still
I sang my songs for the rest,
For you I am still;
The tree of my song is bare
On its shining hill.

For you came like a lordly wind,
And the leaves were whirled
Far as forgotten things
Past the rim of the world.

The tree of my songs stands bare
Against the blue –
I gave my songs to the rest,
Myself to you.

5. Spend All You Have On Loveliness
Life has loveliness to sell,
All beautiful and splendid things,
Blue waves whitened on a cliff,
Soaring fire that sways and sings,
And children’s faces looking up
Holding wonder like a cup.

Life has loveliness to sell,
Music like a curve of gold.
Scent of pine trees in the rain,
Eyes that love you, arms that hold,
And for your spirit’s still delight,
Holy thoughts that star the night.

Spend all you have for loveliness,
Buy it and never count the cost;
For one white singing hour of peace
Count many a year of strife well lost,
And for a breath of ecstasy
Give all you have been, or could be.

6. And I For You
The moon is a curving flower of gold,
The sky is still and blue;
The moon was made for the sky to hold,
And I for you;

The moon is a flower without a stem,
The sky is luminous;
Eternity was made for them,
Tonight for us.
7. Let Me Love
Until I lose my soul and lie
Blid to the beauty of the earth,
Deaf though shouting wind goes by,
Dumb in a storm of mirth;

Until my heart is quenched at length
And I have left the land of men,
Oh, let me love with all my strength
Careless if I am loved again.

Paul John Rudoi is a professional vocalist, composer, conductor and member of the group, Cantus. As a composer, he has debuted many of his compositions while singing with the group, Cantus, for 8 consecutive years. Paul John Rudoi’s arrangement of Yonder Come Day was made to celebrate the lives of those affected by the Georgia Sea Island slave trade, one of the most prominent slave trade routes from Africa. Paul John arrangement of Yonder Come Day is comprised of 3 African American spirituals that contained hidden messages as a sign of escape, call-to-action, and/or warning. All three spirituals held a coded message or double meaning. To slave masters, they interpreted these songs as a way for slaves to practice religion but for slaves, it was used to signal escape or to find a way to the Underground Railroad. The first spiritual, “Hush, Somebody’s Calling My Name” gave warning to hide and pay attention because they were slave masters were nearby. The lyrics, “oh, my Lord what shall I do” then acts as a direct response asking for help. The second spiritual, “Steal Away” outlines the pursuit to escape to the Underground Railroad. And finally, the third spiritual, “Swing Low, Sweet Chariot” was a plea to take slaves into the North, away from slavery using the Underground Railroad as their chariot.

Summer Silence is poetry from e.e. cummings (1894–1962), a revolutionary in the poetry world. e.e. cummings experimented heavily with form, punctuation, spelling, and syntax. The composer, Timothy E. Cooper, brings the emphasis of e.e. cummings experiments through his arrangement of this poem. Movement between varying meters, intentional accents, dynamic markings and the expressive piano accompaniment act as Cooper’s way to experiment with form, punctuation, spelling and syntax.

Summer Silence
Poetry by e.e. cummings (1894–1962)
Eruptive lightnings flutter to and fro
Above the heights of immemorial hills;
Thirst-stricken air, dumb-throated, in its woe
Limply down-sagging, its limp body spills
Upon the earth. A panting silence fills
The empty vault of Night with shimmering bars
Of sullen silver, where the lake distils
Its misered bounty—Hark! No whisper mars
The utter silence of the untranslated stars.
George Frideric Handel is one of the most iconic composers to come out of the Baroque era. Born in Halle, Germany, Handel later made his way to London where he composed the oratorio, Judas Maccabeus (1746). “Hallelujah, Amen” comes from the oratorio Judas Maccabeus composed as a gift for Prince William Augustus, Duke of Cumberland on his return from the Battle of Culloden. The oratorio in three acts was based on the libretto by Thomas Morell and depicts the events of when Judea was ruled by the Seleucid Empire. “Hallelujah, Amen” is the final piece in of the third act. This song is used to celebrate victory over the Seleucid Empire by the Jewish people and their alliance with Rome. Peace has finally come to their country.

“Hallelujah, Amen”
From Judas Maccabeus
Libretto by Thomas Morell (1703 – 1784)
Hallelujah, Amen!
O Judah, rejoice, rejoice, O Judah, in songs divine,
With cherubim and seraphim harmonious join,
Hallelujah, Amen!

Cantique de Jean Racine, Op. 11 was a choral composition accompanied by piano or organ based on a poetic translation of a hymn from the Roman Breviary by Jean Racine. Gabriel Faure took the paraphrase of this text and set it to music around 1864-1865 for a composition competition in Paris and won first place. Later, in the following year, it was premiered with strings and organ accompaniment.

Cantique de Jean Racine
Text by Jean Racine
Translation by Harold Heiberg
Verbe égal au Très-Haut,
notre unique espérance,
Jour éternel de la terre et des cieux,
nous rompons le silence:
Divin sauveur, jette
sur nous les yeux.
Répands sur nous
le feu de ta grâce puissante;
Que tout l’enfer
fuie au son de ta voix;
Dissipe le sommeil
d’une âme languissante
Qui la conduit à l’oubli de tes lois!
O Christ! sois favorable à ce peuple fidèle,
Pour te bénir
maintenant rassemblé;
Reçois les chants qu’il offre à ta gloire immortelle,
Et de tes dons
qu’il retourne comblé.
O Redeemer divine,
Our sole hope of salvation,
Eternal Light of the earth and sky,
we kneel in adoration
O Savior, turn on us
Thy loving eye,
Send down on us
the fire of Thy grace all consuming Whose wondrous might,
dispersed the pow’rs of hell,
And rouse our slumb’ring souls
with radiance all illumining,
That they may waken
Thy mercy to tell,
O Christ, bestow Thy blessing
on us, we implore Thee,
Who here are gathered on penitent knee.
Accept the hymns we chant to
Thine eternal glory
And these Thy gifts
We return unto Thee.
Feodosiy Rubtsov is a Russian composer and musicologist from the 1900s who is known for his folk song arrangements. There is not much known about the composer, but his arrangement of Veniki (Brooms) is a Russian tongue twister with nonsensical meaning.

Veniki (Brooms)
Translation by Musica Russica

Veniki, Veniki,
Da Veniki pomeliki,
Da papechi valialisia,
Sa spetchi oborvalisia.
Kum Gavrila,
Ya Gavrile govorila.

Brooms, brooms,
Yes brooms - sweepers
Yes on the hearth laid about,
Yes from the hearth were torn off.
Godfather Gabriel
I to Gabriel was saying.

Greg Gilpin is a well-known composer of choral music and is consistently in demand throughout the year working on commissioned projects. His song Why We Sing describes the many reasons why we continue to learn, make, and share music together.

Why We Sing
Words by Greg Gilpin

A sound of hope, a sound of peace,
A sound that celebrates and speaks what we believe.
A sound of love, a sound so strong.
It’s amazing what is given when we share a song.

Soothe a soul, mend a heart,
Bring together lives that have been torn apart.
Share the joy, find a friend.
It’s a never ending gift that circles back again.

Music builds a bridge, it can tear down a wall.
Music is a language that can speak to one and all!

This is why we sing, why we lift our voice.
Why we stand as one in harmony.
This is why we sing, why we lift our voice.
Take my hand and sing with me.
We sing!
