

Study Abroad in India

School/ Program	Public Health, Policy Advocacy, and Community (SIT)	National Identity and the Arts (SIT)	Tibetan Studies (Emory University)
Location	Delhi	Delhi	Dharamsala
Population	16.7 million	16.7 million	19,000
Interesting Facts	Delhi has been continuously inhabited since at least the 6 th century BCE	Delhi is spread over an area of 1483 sq. kilometers!	Dharamsala is the capital of the exiled Tibetan government
Climate	Humid, subtropical climate	Humid, subtropical climate	Humid, subtropical climate
Term(s)	Fall / Spring	Fall / Spring	Spring
GPA req.	2.5	2.5	3.0
Prerequisite	None	None	One religion course
of Students	15-20	15-20	n/a
Internships Available	YES	NO	YES
Housing	Homestay	Homestay	Homestays and Res Hall
Language of Instruction	English/Hindi	English/Hindi	English/Tibetan
Good for Students interested in...	Students will analyze specific case studies that illuminate the problems, prospects, and potential methods of promoting health. Advocacy efforts for health and human rights on the national and international levels are also examined, while considering relevant international declarations such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights. Students complete an independent study project during the last four weeks of the program.	This program studies the visual and performing arts of India—its architecture, painting, sculpture, printmaking, photography, film, dance, music, and drama—in historic and contemporary contexts. Students are challenged to consider the relationship between religion, art, and identity. Students complete an independent study project during the last four weeks of the program.	Tibetan Culture and Civilization, Tibetan Language, Buddhist Philosophy and Practice, and Independent Field Research. Independent Research topics cover a wide range of subject matter including Religion, Buddhism, Philosophy, Visual and Performing Arts, Global Health, Ecology/Environmental Studies, Education, Political Science, Human Rights, and Women's Studies.

School/ Program	Sustainable Development and Social Change (SIT)	Traditional Medicine and Healthcare Practices (SIT)
Location	Jaipur	New Delhi, India
Population	6.7 million	21 million
Interesting Facts	Jaipur is known as the "Pink City".	Capitol of India
Climate	Semi-arid climate	Long and hot summers
Term(s)	Fall / Spring	SUMMER ONLY
GPA req.	2.5	2.5
Prerequisite	None	None
of Students	15-20	15-20
Internships Available	NO	NO
Housing	Homestay	Homestays
Language of Instruction	English/Hindi	English
Good for Students interested in...	This program examines the diverse factors, internal and global, shaping India's development strategies and patterns. Students gain foundational knowledge of India's past, present, and future development paradigms, economic growth, and social change. Students complete an independent study project during the last four weeks of the program.	Explore and experience how an ancient civilization maintains vibrant traditional medicine and healthcare systems, while experiencing rapid economic growth and modernization.