

OLIVIA ALMY

Hello! My name is Olivia Almy and I am from Petaluma, California. I am a sociology major with a bioethics minor here at the University of Puget Sound. During my downtime, I am usually reading, learning to fold something new out of origami, or playing video games while my housemates make fun of me. I'm a goalie on the lacrosse team here at Puget Sound, as well as the editor of the bioethics journal, which are my favorite ways to stay involved in the campus community! I do almost all my remote work from Diversions cafe, so when I'm not working, at practice, or at home you can pretty much always find me there doing homework.
