RELIGIOUS STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Douglas R. Edwards Award for Scholarly ExcellenceIan Crocker

This award, established in honor of religious studies colleague Professor Douglas Edwards, honors the religious studies major who has intellectually distinguished him- or herself by writing the most intellectually rigorous and original thesis in religious studies in the past year. Professor Edwards, distinguished professor of religion from 1987 to 2008, renowned for his expertise in biblical archeology, set the standard in the Department of Religious Studies for the highest level of scholarship. With this award, his colleagues seek to memorialize Professor Edwards’ commitment to scholarly excellence by recognizing the graduating senior who has demonstrated superb scholarly achievement.

Darrell Reeck Award.....Alona Stroup Luke Ulrick

At the end of the 1990–91 academic year, Darrell Reeck retired from the Department of Religious Studies to take a position with Progressive Securities, a socially responsible investment firm located in Portland, Ore. This move was a logical extension of Professor Reeck’s ongoing personal and professional interest in social ethics throughout his 22 years at the university. He taught in the area of religious ethics, focusing on Christian ethics, Islam, African religions, and the application of religious ethical principles to a variety of social problems. Professor Reeck’s academic interests and ethical convictions led to his work as one of the founders of the university’s Business Leadership Program and his offering of a course on professional and corporate ethics. Further, Professor Reeck played a key role as a faculty member actively involved in the university’s review of its investment policies. This work, in turn, led him to the world of socially responsible investing and, eventually, to Progressive Securities.

With his deep commitment to social justice and effective teaching in the area of religious ethics, Professor Reeck had a major influence on his students and colleagues throughout his tenure at the university. To commemorate on an annual basis his commitment to social ethics and high-quality teaching while at the university, the Department of Religious Studies has decided to establish a fund that will make possible a small gift each year to the graduating religious studies major or minor who has most demonstrated the convictions and interest in social ethics that Professor Reeck exemplified.

FELLOWSHIPS

Fulbright Scholarship – English Teaching AssistantshipFranny Klatt
Nicholas Navin
Meadow Poplawsky
Justin Loye, alternate
Lura Morton, alternate

The U.S. student program is designed to give recent B.S./B.A. graduates and master's and doctoral candidates opportunities for personal development and international experience. Students teach English as a second language and participate in various community and cultural activities. Projects and/or activities may include university coursework, independent library or field research, classes in a music conservatory or art school, special projects in the social or life sciences, or a combination.

Thomas Watson Fellowship Samantha Lilly
The Watson Fellowship enables college graduates of unusual promise to engage in an initial postgraduate year of independent study and travel abroad. This opportunity provides for a focused and disciplined Wanderjahr of the graduate's own design. The fellowship provides a grant of $30,000 to each recipient.

Critical Language ScholarshipSara Burke
A program of the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, the Critical Language Scholarship (CLS) Program offers intensive summer language institutes in 13 critical foreign languages. The selection process is administered by American Councils for International Education with awards approved by the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. The CLS Program is part of a U.S. government effort to expand dramatically the number of Americans studying and mastering critical foreign languages. Students of diverse disciplines and majors are encouraged to apply. Participants are expected to continue their language study beyond the scholarship period, and later apply their critical language skills in their future professional careers.
